

My name is Jesse Carley. I have been unemployed since April 2009. I have found the job market to be non-responsive to me. I want to work and I want to support my family both legally and ethically. We have been able to just maintain our lives with unemployment benefits. I know the benefits cost the Country money, but I will gladly recontribute once I have a job. I have looked feverishly for a job. Right now I am dependent upon unemployment funds. I have worked in the past and I just need jobs to become available. I was laid off after my contract position ended. I had hopes of becoming a full-time employee, but the economy caused my position to be filled by another full-time employee who would have been laid off. Please continue to provide benefits. I have two children and a wife. I would ask for time for all of us who want jobs to have the opportunity to continue to search. I am not asking for a hand out or welfare. I am asking for help, and I will contribute back more than I received once I return to work. I know that crime will increase and families will be torn apart, if extensions are not made. We just need time to allow our great Country to recover and regain its' footing.

Thank you,

Jesse Carley
